Landfill battle lines defined

See related story, Page 3A
BY ED LEPOMA

The controversy over whether to open a county landfill at Standard has pitted politician against politician. Both sides say they have the taxpayers' interest at heart, but ultimately, it will be the taxpayers who will foot the bill for whatever happens.

The latest salvo in a feud that has been brewing well before the November general elections came last week when the Hancock County Solid Waste District issued a restrained ultimatum to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in the form of a compromise.

Board members, representing the mayors of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, were prepared to go forward with a resolution on their intent to open up at least a 10-acre landfill at Standard.

Instead, they asked District 3 Supervisor Lisa Cowand to get a yes or no from supervisors on whether they will abandon the Standard site altogether and begin a costly and time-consuming process to find a rubbish and landfill site somewhere in the buffer zone that surrounds the giant Stennis Space Center.

Cowand told the Board it was "my gut feeling that supervisors were not interested in opening up Standard."

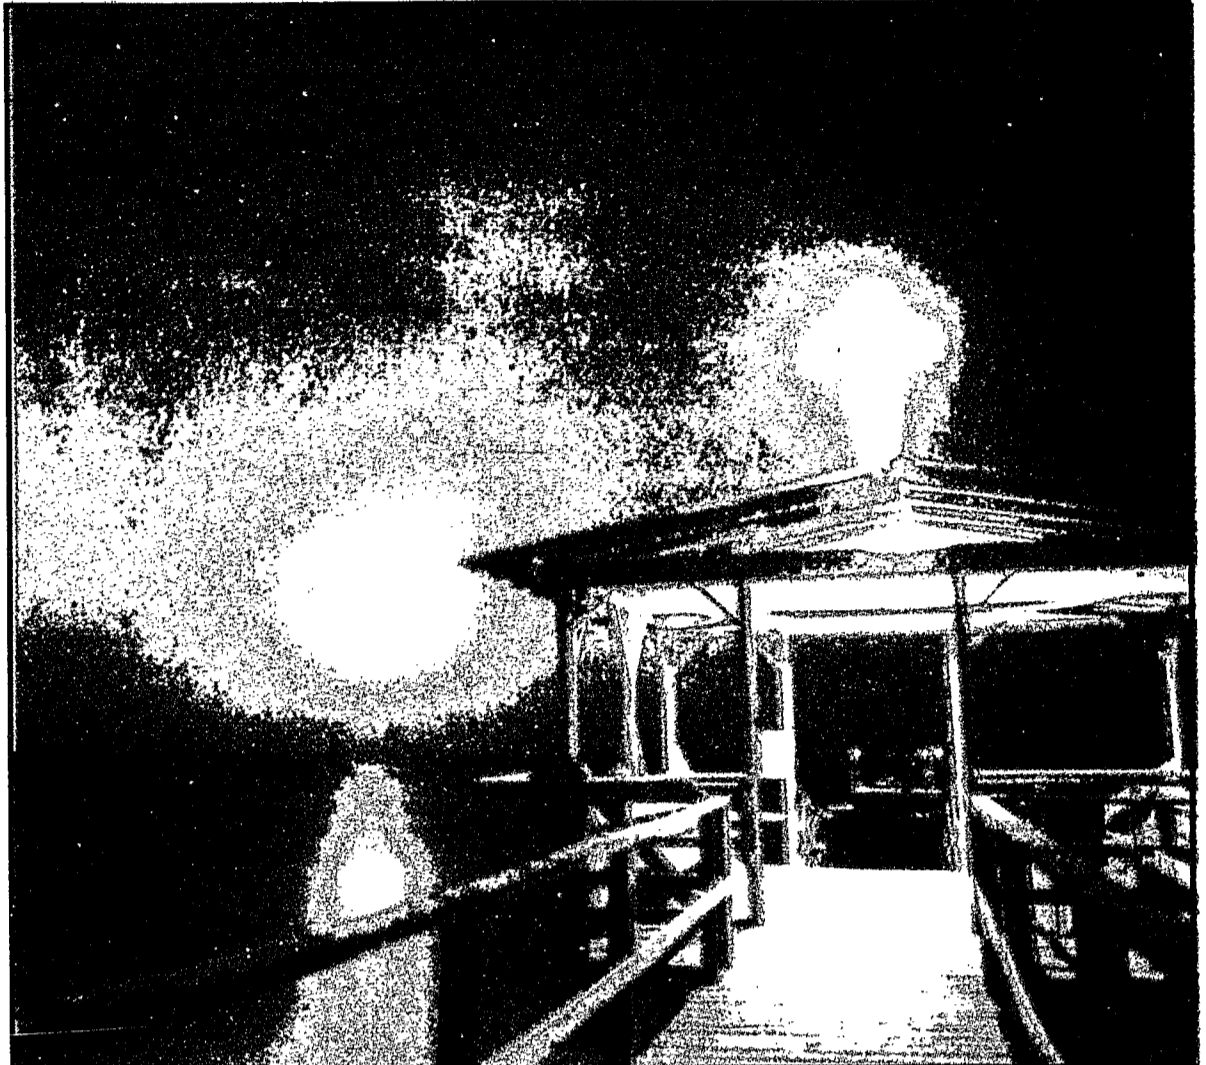

Cowand will put the question to fellow supervisors at their April 16 meeting. She was also asked to tell them that Trans-American Waste Inc. of Mobile may pull out of operating the rubbish site May 1st or begin charging the county for managing it unless part of Standard is open for a temporary landfill.

Whatever the outcome of the April 16 meeting, the Solid Waste District has set a special meeting the next day to chart its future course.

Les Fillingame, the planner who represents Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre on the District, put the complicated issue in perspective when he opened up the conversation with Cowand.

Fillingame said, in an inter-local agreement signed in April of 1993, by the Board of Supervisors and the mayors of both

Legislature considers school board pay increase

BY TRACI BONNEY

School board trustees may receive a pay increase if the state approves a measure currently under consideration.

School board members in Mississippi receive $40 a meeting for 36 meetings, and no compensation for any meetings beyond that limit, according to Hancock County School Board President Cheryl Bennett.

"Most school board members actually lose money doing this," she said. "We're not in this for the money to start with, but we do end up often taking time away from our jobs and money out of our pockets to attend state-mandated training and seminars."

The state legislature is considering a measure that would give school board members an option of a per diem amount for each meeting ($40 in the Senate version, $67 in the House version) with the current 36-meeting cap, or an annual salary of $2,400, regardless of the number of meetings.

John Hartman, executive director of the Mississippi School Board Association, said in a recent MSBA Update article that it appears the state legislature is leaning toward

Ladner Pier free today

At the urging of Waveland resident Sandra Lytel, admission will be free all day today to the Garfield Ladner Pier in Waveland.

Lytel petitioned the Board of Aldermen at a workshop on Monday to allow free use of the pier on Sunday as a way to attract more members.

"This weekend is when everybody comes over and opens up their houses," Lytel said. "This will be a chance to get more memberships. We can have (the pier rangers) hand out flyers."

The board approved the idea at its meeting on Tuesday. There will be free admission beginning at midnight on Saturday and lasting until midnight Sunday.

A family membership for the pier is $12 per year.

Tourism tax sent to governor

BY ED LEPOMA

Local business leader Bill Lady praised the county's legislative delegation Friday for steering passage of a two percent tourism tax to benefit Hancock County through the session's closing days.

On Thursday, the House and Senate passed the legislation and sent it to Gov. Kirk Fordice for his signature.

The bill, spearheaded by the House by Rep. J.P. Compretta with support from Rep. Dirk Dedeaux, and championed in the Senate by Sen. Scottie Cuevas, will help fund operations of a Tourism Development Bureau solely dedicated to promoting the county and its two largest cities as tourist destinations.

Lady, who serves as chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's Tourism Development Bureau, had praise for local and county elected officials, who initially gave support to the tax proposal.

"I am very excited that the county is looking at tourism as a major industry," said Lady, who operates the Holiday Inn in Waveland, along with his brother, Steve.

"I am also very thrilled to see how officials in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County worked together on this project. After ironing out some of the obstacles, they all voted unanimously to support this effort," Lady said.

He commended Compretta, Dedeaux and Cuevas for "working together to get this bill passed through the House and Senate in such a short time."

"It shows how much can be accomplished when we all work together as a community on a project," said Lady.

The legislation was subjected to several rewrites before the three entities—the county and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland—supported the proposal, and sent resolutions

Diamondhead Post Office burglarized

BY RICHARD MEEK

A fax machine, computer and other items were stolen from the Diamondhead Post Office Thursday night, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Office officials.

Chief Deputy Nathan Hoda said burglars broke in through an air vent at the post office, on Aloha Drive. It doesn't have an alarm system, Hoda said.

Hoda said his office is working with the U.S. Postal Inspection Service in the investigation.

Hoda added that the post office burglary is the latest in a rash of burglaries that has occurred over the last two weeks in the Diamondhead area. He said several mini-warehouses have been burglarized, and that a stereo was stolen from a truck parked in front of an auto repair shop.

Hoda said the Sheriff's Office plans to add a patrol car to the area, and Diamondhead Security is also expected to beef up its patrols.

"We feel like these may be juveniles committing these crimes," Hoda said.

BUSINESS NEWS

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, APRIL 7, 1996-3A

So you think your boss hates you?

Considering most people spend more time in the work place than at home, a sour relationship with your boss can make a work day seem like a prison sentence.

Although long-term, unbearable situations aren't that common, it is easy to see how many types of personalities do not always mesh perfectly, says Dr. Dwight Frink, a University of Mississippi assistant professor of management who specializes in human resource and organizational behavior issues.

"In a lot of ways your work can be like family. We all have a brother, sister, uncle or cousin we don't agree with. Offices can be the same way."

But in the end, Frink says most employees and employers get along because there is a common goal, and success depends on developing a cooperative spirit. If you find the relationship between you and your boss has soured, the Ole Miss professor offers these simple suggestions to sweeten it up:

• Be a performer. Don't give your boss any reason to dislike you. Know your job responsibilities and work to exceed them. If your boss still doesn't like you, then it's most likely personal "and then the monkey is on his back to resolve the issue," says Frink.

• Understand the political game. Be aware of inter-office politics, and identify sources and means of influence and power, the management professor says. Some things you think are personal might be related to the boss' personal agenda.

• See the big picture. Frink advises employees to keep everything in focus. "Try to think in terms of longer time frames. Although the relationship may be unpleasant today, it can be a resource for tomorrow."

Ultimately, he says, those around you will notice your ability to endure an unfavorable situation without being petty and see that as an admirable quality.

• Use sounding boards. Try to be as objective as possible and remember that it's always feasible that your feelings of being disliked are unfounded, Frink says. For an objective opinion, talk to a trusted colleague to determine if your perceptions have any merit. Also, watch how your boss interacts with other colleagues to decide if you are treated differently.

• Know when talk isn't cheap. Never overlook the obvious tactic of sitting down and letting your boss know about your discomfort. This tactic is almost always at least a win/neutral situation, says the Ole Miss professor.

If the boss just doesn't like you, it won't help or hurt, and if it's something that can be resolved, you can win by being proactive. Open communications can both dispel misunderstandings and protect your interests.

A&T wins $33 million contract

Analysis & Technology Inc. (NASDAQ: AATI) announced its information technology subsidiary, Integrated Performance Decisions Inc. (IPD), has won a contract with the Advanced Systems Technology Office of the Naval Sea Systems Command worth $33 million over five years.

IPD and its subcontractor will develop combat system tactical decision aids and sensor performance prediction systems for surface ships, submarines, aircraft and land-based command centers. These systems provide real-time decision aids for various warfare areas, with special emphasis on joint and global operations involving Army and Air Force personnel, as well as those of the Navy.

The contract will also enable IPD to integrate and implement tactical decision aids for approved foreign countries through the Department of Defense's Foreign Military Sales (FMS) program.

Gary P. Bennett, president and chief executive officer of

A&T, noted, "This significant contract win, together with the recent re-emergence of antisubmarine warfare as a top Navy priority, shows that uncertainty about Department of Defense funding priorities that affected A&T in the second half of fiscal year 1996 has begun to clear."

A&T's 1996 fiscal year ends March 31, 1996. The company's contractual backlog at Feb. 28, 1996 was $461 million, an increase of 10 percent from the same date in 1995.

Bennett pointed out that the $33 million contract is a continuation of pioneering work IPD has performed using real-time processing and object-oriented client/server technology.

"In addition to some impressive software architecture work, IPD has also helped to set the standard for friendly graphical user interfaces in these systems, making complex information easy to interpret," he said.

He continued, "This leading edge work in decision support systems for the Department of Defense is also at the heart of several information technology transfer initiatives within IPD. We find the ability to make rapid and accurate decisions is in as much demand among business executives as it is with warfighters."

IPD president James R. Lavoie agreed, observing, "Competitive pressure has forced American business to the same need for quick decision making and close coordination that a battleground has — to quickly respond to external threats as a unit."

"We work with both commercial and government customers as a Lotus Notes™ developer, in addition to our decision support work, and see growing similarities. Everybody wants to win in a tough situation," he said.

Working with customers, Analysis & Technology Inc. creates technology-based solutions in three key areas: engineering services, information technologies and interactive multimedia training systems.

Lotus Notes™ is a product of IBM Corporation.

Cameron Byrne (captain), left, Billy D'Angelo, Mikey Ryan and Hunter Dawkins comprise the majority of the first place St. Stanislaus team participating in the Mississippi Stock Market Game against nearly 500 other teams.

Students first in game

Under the direction of advisor Mike Gemelli, St. Stanislaus students Cameron Byrne, captain, Hunter Dawkins, Mikey Ryan, Billy D'Angelo and James McDonald are currently in first place in the junior division of the Mississippi Stock Market Game.

With a hypothetical $100,000 the team earned a profit of more than $17,000 in just a few weeks and outperformed nearly 500 other teams in the competition.

The Mississippi Stock Market Game is sponsored by the American Enterprise Center, the economic arm of the Mississippi Economic Council; Legg-Mason, a Jackson-based investment firm; and the Clarion-Ledger.

The game is a computer-based competition involving teams from all over the country. The teams invest the hypothetical $100,000 in the stock market during the course of the game, using newspaper listings to follow their stocks and researching various stocks before placing their buy-and-sell orders.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The good news is that the Bay St. Louis recycling program is now to include mixed paper — magazines, junk mail, dry and empty cereal boxes, shoe and tissue boxes, office and school paper, paper bags, etc.

Also, in Bay St. Louis Gulf Coast Recycling is now operated by Mississippi ResorSys.

Mississippi ResorSys asks that the mixed paper products be contained in a separate paper bag and placed in the recycling bin provided by the City of Bay St. Louis.

It is always good to drive about town and see the large number of recycling bins waiting on collection days.

Beginning April 15, Mississippi ResorSys will change some of the collection days in order to provide time for make-ups because of holidays.

This is good, because it means the recycling truck will make a collection every week for each customer.

There may be some of you who are new residents to Bay St. Louis and are not participating in the recycling program.

If you would like further information, call Mississippi ResorSys at 467-9268.

Remember, our landfill space is filling up fast, so it is necessary to recycle more than ever.

This is the of the year when boys and girls are preparing for all types of baseball and softball programs. I know soccer is throughout the year.

Anyway, many times leagues are in need of coaches and managers for teams.

I understand from Frank Perniciaro the Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Little League is now in need of coaches for the pitching machine league. Perniciaro can be reached at 467-5626.

I am sure there are other leagues in need of coaches, too.

Our youngsters need things to do, and they also need adults to lead them.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is seeking contestants to enter the Miss Hancock Chamber contest.

An entrant must be a resident of Hancock County, as well as the parent or guardian, and between the ages of 18 to 22 (by July 30).

The young lady selected will represent the chamber at various functions throughout the year.

Applications and further details are available at the Chamber Office, 412 Hwy. 90, Suite 6, Colonial Plaza, Bay St. Louis.

Deadline for entries is April 26. The chamber's telephone number is 467-9048.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Resident says casinos do offer complimentaries

To the Editor:

In answer to Mr. Kaupp: As a native of Hancock County, in all due fairness, I've enjoyed many of complimentary dinners at the local casinos.

One merely has to play and ask. Friday, March 15, I played poker "free." It didn't cost me a dime to enter the game, and I won over $400.

Kids should have place to ride dirt bikes

To the Editor:

There was a time when I thought Mississippi had the friendliest people around. Recently, however, I have learned there are a few who are so miserable with themselves they have nothing better to do but harass our young people. I am a resident of Spanish Acres Subdivision. We are basically surrounded by empty wooded areas.

Our young kids ride their dirt bikes and play in this area. They cause no one any harm.

Our children have had the police called on them from a select few residents in our subdivision. We have been informed that our children may no longer ride in this area and have also been informed that if they to ride, the bikes will be confiscated.

Soccerplex leaders need to be commended for efforts

To the Editor:

At the most recent meeting of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, I had the pleasure of hearing an updated presentation on the Scott Demboski Memorial Soccerplex, presented by Messrs. Pat Rich, president, and Art Riebel, vice-president, Bay Area Youth Soccer.

These gentlemen, along with so many others, truly are to be congratulated for their vision, their profound interest in and concern for our community's youth, and their unrelenting persistence with bringing such a major project from concept to near fruition.

As envisioned, the Scott Demboski Memorial Soccerplex is much, much more than a new sports facility — it's the foundation on which to build a future for many of our area's youth. And, although the focus is on youth, the benefits to be derived from this complex transcend both age and sports.

This site will serve to host major tournaments, bringing hundreds of visitors and thousands of dollars to our community. This site will provide an arena where budding athletes will learn and develop character traits which will serve them well throughout life.

Stopping and get in on the fun.

Sincerely,
Barbara Foreman
Bay St. Louis

P.S. We do need a better road on Washington Road.

Tourists get lost on it looking for the casino, and I tell them to get off 'Washboard Road' and go to the next road where there are no potholes.

There is no place in Hancock County for these kids to go ride. There are places in Harrison County, but this means trucking our kids to another county just to ride their bikes.

Our children are not causing any trouble or damage to anyone, yet due to a select few people these kids can no longer ride.

Perhaps these same few people would have our kids selling drugs or burglarizing homes.

Surely someone can help the parents of these kids with some place in our county where they can ride without worrying about a few grumpy people calling the police.

I still think Mississippi has the friendliest people with the exception of a few.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

Campaign mail-outs coming back to haunt GOP

Last November's big-bucks smear mail-out campaign by the Mississippi Republican Party in an attempt to defeat a dozen Democratic legislators is coming back to haunt the GOP.

In all but two instances, the mail-out blitz, done over the imprimatur of the Mississippi Republican Party, failed to unseat Democratic lawmakers.

The mail-outs, sent to constituents in each of the targeted lawmakers' districts in the dying days of the campaign had alleged how they had voted on several voter-sensitive issues. However, the mail pieces contained some glaring errors and absolute falsehoods.

Now the episode, considered a new low in political dirty tricks in Mississippi, has landed the state GOP in court and could extend all the way to the Republican National Committee.

One lawsuit has already been filed against the state GOP by an aggrieved lawmaker and there appears to be more coming.

Thus far, in the disclosure process of the pending lawsuit, the Mississippi party has contended that the smear mail-out operation was the brainchild of, and financed by, the Republican National Committee, which incidentally, is headed by former Mississippian Haley Barbour.

In documents on file in the Secretary of State's Office, it is evident that the Republican National Committee last fall poured at least $205,000 into what is called the "Mississippi Legislative Trust" for the mail-out operation. The state party in disclosures has conceded that the research of the alleged voting records of targeted lawmakers was done by staffers sent in and paid by the RNC.

Former state Rep. Morris Lee Scott (D-Hernando), who was narrowly defeated for re-election after being targeted by a mail-out, has led off by filing a libel suit against the state GOP in DeSoto County Circuit Court. Scott is represented by his son, Paul, a Hernando attorney.

Scott has said he has "no doubt" that the mail-out wrongly saying he had voted for the 1993 one-cent sales tax hike is what cost him the election. Not only had Scott voted against the bill initially, he also voted to sustain Gov. Kirk Fordice's veto, which was overridden.

Because the fier was mailed to his constituents in the final days of the campaign, Scott had no chance to refute it. In bold print, the mail-out made it appear Scott had raised his legislative pay $8,640 or 50 percent, while hiking the taxes of "working families."

Scott had voted for one bill to increase legislators' base pay and expense allowance, but it never became law after a gubernatorial veto. The fier, he contends, was wrong on the amount of raise lawmakers would have gotten, and the implication that they got it.

So far, the state GOP's legal defense to Scott's lawsuit, while admitting some of his charges, is contending that he was a public figure and that the party is protected by the first amendment from any damages.

At least four other Democratic lawmakers hit by the GOP mail-outs last November, are closely following Scott's lawsuit, and are considering a class action suit.

Former Rep. Ayres Haxton of Natchez, one of the two Democrats narrowly unseated in the GOP mail-out blitz, has consulted an attorney about legal action, including the possibility of charging criminal violations of state and federal mail fraud statutes.

State Sen. John White (D-Baldwyn) said he is contemplating filing a lawsuit and is represented by his son, a Jackson attorney.

White said he was particularly disturbed by the GOP's claim that he had voted for a legislative pay raise, which he had not. "I've never seen anything like it," declared White, who was re-elected to a fourth term with 64 percent of the vote.

Rep. Pat Miller (D-Walls) has a little different sort of brief with what her Republican opponent said about her voting record in a political advertisement. The ad, placed by her GOP opponent in a local weekly the last week of the campaign, she says, "was wrong on four of five votes" it accused her of making.

Miller, who has also retained an attorney, won re-election despite having once withdrawn because of her mother's grave illness in Chicago. However, she lost DeSoto County where the ad appeared.

Rep. Norma Bourdeaux (D-Meridian) was given perhaps the worst smear mail-out treatment at a time her husband, distinguished attorney Tom Bourdeaux, died suddenly. Bourdeaux, who says, "I would like to (file a lawsuit)," is not doing so because she is too preoccupied with settling her late husband's estate.

A. No. A public servant may hold only one position with the governmental entity of which he or she is a member, officer, employee or agent. (Mississippi Ethics Advisory Opinion No. 95-121-E dated Nov. 10, 1995)

Q. Who sets the salary of the Victims Assistance Coordinator?

A. The District Attorney. (Attorney General's opinion to Mitchell dated Feb. 19, 1992)

Q. May a tax collector be allowed additional compensation for collecting garbage fees?

A. No, but the board of supervisors shall pay the reasonable costs incurred in collecting fees. ($19-5-18)

Q. May a coroner appoint an immediate family member to be a deputy coroner?

A. No. (Attorney General's opinion to Beech dated Feb. 26, 1992, and to Meadows dated Dec. 16, 1992)

Q. How is the value of inventory of wholesale or retail stores determined for purposes of local privilege tax?

A. The value of inventory, including consignments, is the assessed value as determined for ad valorem taxation. (The amount on the personal property roll). ($27-17-365)

Q. Are fee paid officials required to pay for unemployment compensation received by terminated employees?

A. No. All individuals performing services in the employ of elected fee-paid county officials, other than those related by blood or marriage within the third degree, are considered employees of the county for unemployment compensation purposes. ($71-5-11)

Q. Must traveling expenses received by members of the board of supervisors be published in a newspaper?

A. Yes, in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county, and if no newspaper is published in the county, then in a newspaper published elsewhere in the state which has a general circulation in the county they represent. ($19-3-67)

Q. May the board of supervisors prohibit the use of a tape recorder by a person in attendance at a board meeting?

A. A board of supervisors can develop reasonable rules concerning the use of tape recorders at a board meeting, but a flat prohibition is not reasonable. (Attorney General's opinion to Lee dated Aug. 11, 1993) cities, they formed the Solid Waste District, developed a 20-year plan for disposing of the county's solid waste, and gave sole authority for carrying out the plan to the Solid Waste District.

Landfill

Fillingame asked Coward, "At what point do we let the Board (of Supervisors) disrupt the county's solid waste plan? How long can we sit back, talk about it and dream about it?"

Coward said supervisors were narrowing down sites in the buffer zone, and may have a suggestion in "two to three weeks."

"The question is bigger than that," said Fillingame. "The question is whether the Board is ever going to support this District's decisions. They can't go on blazing their own trails."

Fillingame said six months ago the District "was in a good position to handle the county's solid waste problems over the next 20 years."

The county has expended more than $100,000 on soil testing and engineering plans for Standard, and has a preliminary permit to open all or part of it as a landfill site.

The District signed a 20-year contract with Trans-American last June, and that firm took over operations of the 40-acre rubbish site at Standard September 1.

The contract signed with Trans-American, and approved by supervisors and the two cities, also gave that firm a 20-year contract to construct and operate a county landfill.

Fillingame said once it is opened, the county's cost of disposing its own solid waste would be cut from the present $20,000 a month to dump at Pecan Grove in Harrison County to $10,000 a month. The county would also gain additional revenue from other solid waste that would come into the landfill from adjoining cities and towns.

Shortly after contracting with Trans-American, the District asked the previous Board of Supervisors to allow it to incorporate as a "Solid Waste Authority" in order to begin negotiations with the Hancock County School District to buy the remaining 90 acres of Section 16 land at Standard for a county landfill.

Although only district 3 Supervisor Howard Lizana faced opposition (from Coward) in the November election, the Board tabled the motion to allow the Authority to be formed.

And, after Lizana lost to Coward in the general election, the outgoing Board of Supervisors met in December, and again ignored the District's request to form the authority so it could open up negotiations with the School Board.

The impasse held even though the District, at supervisors' request, held a public forum on Dec. 13 to explain to concerned citizens exactly what was planned at Standard.

Soon after new supervisors took office last January, they opened up talks with NASA officials, who offered them full cooperation in finding land for a rubbish site somewhere within the buffer zones.

"That's all fine and good," Fillingame said, "And, the District will support them. But, what happens in the meantime? Even if the land is found, it will take three to five years to get a landfill permitted, and up and running."

It will also cost taxpayers more money to buy the land. And, the cost to hire engineers for soil testing, to design the landfill and get it permitted could run well over $100,000 that it has cost to get Standard to this point, Fillingame said.

Trans-American has offered to buy the remaining land from the School district, and spend $7.5 million to build the landfill at Standard.

President Jeff Claunch said it is not his intent to "draw a line in the sand" by offering to withdraw by May 1, but a commitment is needed on Standard so it can begin soliciting the waste stream needed to make the landfill economically feasible.

The rubbish site is another area where the clock is ticking.

It has been operating since 1972, and is nearing capacity. In fact, the state Department of Environmental Quality has given it an extension to operate, but ordered it must close by June 30 of this year.

If Standard is abandoned, county residents, who now dump their tree limbs and other debris free of charge, will have to go elsewhere to dump, and will be at the mercy of whoever has a rubbish site.

Fillingame said the perfect interim solution would be to open up one 10-acre cell at Standard for a landfill. It would be used until supervisors get another landfill up and running, and Trans-American has agreed to build and operate it, provided their contract is extended to a new landfill site.

Fillingame said the District would use the remaining 80 acres to extend the life of the rubbish site.

Garbage pickup and what it would cost taxpayers would be another problem facing the county and cities, said Fillingame.

The District just recently renewed its contract with Boudin's Waste and Recycling Inc. which now provides twice a week pickups within the cities and weekly pickup to county residents.

If supervisors opt to withdraw from the Solid Waste District, Fillingame said new contracts might have to be negotiated with Boudin, and rates could rise because his charges are based on his volume of customers.

Tommy Kidd, Waveland Mayor John Mason's representative on the District, told Coward, "Standard is already permitted. I don't want to tell my mayor we stand to lose what we already have, maybe at an additional charge to our citizens."

Kidd, a sport fishermen, also said he has "direct word" from fishing clubs he did not identify, that they will "do whatever they have to do, to keep anything out of the buffer zone."

Lost in the shuffle of the present controversy is the School District, which holds the deed to the coveted land.

The School District contends it "only has an agreement with the Board of Supervisors."

That means it will only discuss a land sale with supervisors, who are yet to open up any negotiations with the District.

the $40 per diem instead of the $67 per diem.

However, Hartman also said the money is not so much the issue as is the recognition of the responsibility given to school board members.

"Even as the issue of compensation is debated, the fact is that board members are responsible for more public monies than any other elected or appointed official. State appropriations for elementary and secondary schools is well over $1 billion; federal support for special programs like Title I, food services and others are in the multiple millions; and the local ad valorem collections are in the hundreds of millions," he stated.

"Certainly the money (in the proposed pay increase) is important, but the jobs performed are the highest form of public service. Board members deserve to be recognized for the work they do on behalf of the public," Hartman added.

He continued, "Setting policy, resolving disputes, encouraging public support, serving as advocates for local school systems and being accountable for countless employment decisions, expenditures, bids for public purchase, plans for future building facilities, and transportation fleets are but the mere surface of board member responsibility."

Bennett, a director on the board of the MSBA, agreed.

She said, "School board members in Mississippi make $40 a meeting plus mileage to and from the meeting site, and they have a cap of 36 meetings. They don't get paid for any meetings above that number."

"I made $1,580 last year as a Hancock County board member, and nothing as a Mississippi School Board Association board member. I average about 20 trips to Jackson a year on local and state school board business, and I spend 10 to 20 hours a week on school board business."

"So you can see, there's not much monetary compensation, or recognition, for the time a school board member puts into the job, even though we are responsible for a multimillion dollar budget and all the legal matters and other duties that go with the job."

Hartman added, "I believe the passage of compensation bills by both the House and the Senate is an affirmation of the confidence our lawmakers have in our system of public education and in the work that is being done by our more than 700 school board members. This will serve as a way of recognizing that, and in some small way compensate these dedicated public servants."

Last year, similar proposals died in conference, but this year's proposals do not include any provision for board members becoming part of the state retirement system, an issue over which legislators had disagreed.

If a compromise version of the current proposals is passed by both chambers, the bill must have the governor's signature and the approval of the Justice Department, Bennett said.

A comparison of Mississippi with neighboring states shows that:

- Alabama compensates board members up to $300 a month plus expenses, and has no retirement;

- Louisiana compensates members up to $800 per month, $900 for board presidents, and includes board members in the retirement system;

- and Arkansas offers no board member compensation at all.

Tax

authorizing the local legislative delegation to go forward with the tax.

At first, it was proposed the tax be levied on hotels, motels, bed and breakfast establishments, recreational vehicle parks, and some restaurants serving food and beverages.

The makeup of the Tourist Development Bureau, and how members would be appointed also changed, following meetings between the cities, chamber members and supervisors.

As passed, the county will levy the tax on gross proceeds of hotels and motels and bed and breakfast establishments. Exact estimates on how much revenue the tax would bring in weren't available.

Lady said, "I am somewhat disappointed that we were not able to add food and beverage to this bill, but maybe after some time, we can prove ourselves and look at this at a later date."

The tax, unless challenged by a petition by voters who want a referendum on the legislation, would begin to be levied July 1. The tax would be automatically repealed after two years unless the county and cities decide to renew it, and new legislation is enacted.

The legislation creates a nine-member Tourism Development Bureau. Four members would be appointed by the board of supervisors; one each by the mayors; one each by the governing board of the two cities; and one by the Chamber of Commerce. Those appointed

"may be engaged in or employed by tourism-related businesses in Hancock County." Members would serve staggered terms, and select officers to serve one-year terms shortly after the board's formation.

The bill also provides that 20 percent or 1,500 (whichever is less) of the county's registered voters can file a written protest against the imposition of the tax.

If that occurs, the Board of Supervisors would be required to schedule an election on the issue.

Bay St. Louis RECYCLING

"Now The Best Recycling Program On The Coast"

THE CURBSIDE RECYCLING PROGRAM NOW INCLUDES MIXED PAPER.

Mixed paper includes magazines and catalogs; writing paper, junk mail and envelopes; cereal, tissue and shoe boxes; office and school paper; telephone books and paper bags.

Please remember, mixed paper must be dry and free of food, waxed or carbon paper, foil, plastic or metal. Open and inspect all junk mail for contaminants before you recycle it.

Keep mixed paper separate from newspaper and collect it in paper bag(s). On your collection day, set the mixed paper bag (s) on top of your newspaper and secure with the elastic cords and hook attached to your recycling bin.

COLLECTION DAYS CHANGING TO PROVIDE MAKE-UP DAYS FOR HOLIDAYS:

Beginning April 15, curbside collection days are changing to either Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday to allow for holiday and emergency make-up days. After this change, if a holiday falls on Tuesday, we will collect from those neighborhoods on Monday. If a holiday falls on either Wednesday or Thursday, we will collect on Friday. In the event a weather emergency forces cancellation of any collection day, the make-up day will be Friday.

In this way we can guarantee that all Bay St. Louis neighborhoods will have 52 weekly collections every year.

If your collection is now on Monday, it will change to TUESDAY. Your collection days for the rest of April will be Monday the 8th, Tuesday the 16th, Tuesday the 23rd and Tuesday the 30th.

If your collection day is now either Tuesday or Wednesday, it will stay the same.

If your collection day is Thursday and you live west of Washington, it will also stay the same.

If your collection day is Thursday and you live on or east of Washington, it will change to Wednesday. Your collection days for the rest of April will be Thursday the 11th, Wednesday the 17th and Wednesday the 24th.

If your collection day is Friday, it will change to Thursday. Your collection days for the rest of April will be Friday the 12th, Thursday the 18th and Thursday the 25th.

HOW TO PARTICIPATE IN THE BAY ST. LOUIS CURBSIDE RECYCLING PROGRAM ...

[11] Between collection days, store your mixed glass, cans and plastic in the recycling bin provided by the City.

GLASS: Please recycle clear, green and brown bottles and jars only. They must be rinsed and unbroken. Please do not recycle pesticide or other household chemical containers. We also cannot take window glass, Pyrex or drinking glasses.

PLASTIC: Please recycle plastic bottles used for soft drinks, juices and other beverages, milk, and other common household liquids such as laundry detergent. Acceptable plastic bottles will have a recycling symbol on the bottom surrounding the numbers 1 or 2. Below the recycling symbol you will either see the letters PETE or HDPE. Please remove any lids, rinse and flatten if at all possible. As with glass, do not recycle plastic bottles that contained pesticides, oil or other hazardous chemicals.

CANS: Please recycle aluminum and steel cans used for foods or beverages. Rinse beverage cans and wash food cans. You may flatten cans to save space but do not nest aluminum and steel cans together. Please do not recycle paint or aerosol cans.

[12] Store your newspapers separated from the mixed containers. When you set your recycling container out at the street, place the newspapers on top.

NEWSPAPER: Please keep your newspapers clean and as dry as possible. Do not bundle newspapers. Use the elastic cords and hook attached to your recycling bin to secure them. Please do not recycle newspaper that is contaminated with food or paint or that is soaking wet.

[13] Store your MIXED PAPER in paper bags. (We discourage the use of plastic bags for this purpose. If you have no alternative, we will empty the plastic bags and leave them in your recycling bin.) Place the bag(s) of mixed paper on top of the newspapers in your recycling bin and secure the bags and newspapers with the attached cords and hooks.

[14] If rain is predicted for your collection day, cover the papers with a plastic trash bag before you connect the elastic cords. This will help keep the papers dry. We will leave the plastic bag in the recycling bin for you to use again.

[15] Place your recycling bin as close to the road as possible without obstructing traffic or pedestrians. If your bin is partially hidden by a bush, tree or fence, our driver may not be able to see it. We will not jump over drainage ditches to get a recycling containers.

Our policy is to leave your empty recycling bin in the same place where you set it out unless there is a problem with the location you chose. If we leave it in a different location, we are recommending it as a better alternative.

Gulf Coast Recycling is now operated by Mississippi ResorSys.

Our commitment is to provide you with the best possible recycling program.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Submitted by Craig Foster
Edward Jones Co.

Eight fund companies test shorter prospectus

A mutual fund prospectus can be like the emergency instruction card on an airplane. Everybody knows they should read it, but few actually do.

Part of the reason few people read their mutual fund prospectuses is that they are generally confusing. The information is often lengthy, detailed and legal-sounding. An investor may have to read it two or three times (or more) to understand the message.

However, a prospectus is the story of a fund. It provides vital information such as the fund's objective, management history, costs, how to purchase and sell shares, shareholder services and more.

The prospectus also contains information that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) requires fund managers to provide to prospective investors. Its purpose is to describe in detail what you are buying and what risks are involved.

In an effort to make mutual fund prospectuses more understandable, yet still provide the mandatory disclosure information, eight mutual fund companies have been using an experimental "profile prospectus" since August of last year. The profile prospectus is designed to summarize key information clearly and concisely, and it follows a standardized format that should help investors compare different funds.

The profile prospectus contains the 11 critical pieces of information that investors need to know, including the fund's goals, investment strategies, risks, appropriateness, fees and expenses.

The fund's total return for the most recent 10 calendar years is depicted in a bar chart, and information on the fund's adviser and all shareholder services are clearly listed.

Currently, the participating fund groups provide the profile prospectus along with the traditional full prospectus. During the initial evaluation period, research is being conducted to determine if the profile makes it easier for investors to understand key issues before they invest.

If successful, the ultimate goal is for the SEC to authorize mutual funds to use the profile in place of the traditional prospectus. If this happens, investors will still be able to obtain the full prospectus if they wish.

The eight participating mutual fund companies are American Express Financial Corporation (IDS Funds); Bank of America (Pacific Horizon Funds); Capital Research and Management Company (American Funds); The Dreyfus Corp.; Fidelity Investments; T. Rowe Price Associates Inc.; Scudder Stevens & Clark; and Vanguard Group Inc.

If you receive a profile prospectus and are asked for your comments, be candid in your evaluation. Your feedback is a positive step in making vital investment information available and easy to understand.

Reef Crawfish Cook-Off set for Saturday

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

The annual Crawfish Cook-Off, sponsored by Cafe Reef, Waveland, and the River Reef Restaurant, Kiln, is scheduled for Saturday, April 12.

The Legends Bar & Grill of Metairie, La., is the defending champ from 1995 and will be competing against over 20 teams, Erickson said.

Competitors will be from Baton Rouge to Biloxi, Erickson added.

The Crawfish Cook-Off has been hosted yearly since 1990 by Roger Erickson and Debbie Plauche, owners of the Cafe Reef and River Reef.

The River Reef suffered extensive flooding last summer and has been closed. Erickson said, "The Cook-Off kicks off a busy summer with plans to begin construction on the new building at the river."

Gates are to open at 11 a.m. with admission of $10 adults and $5 for kids at the River Reef, Highway 603 at the Jourdan River. Admission includes all-you-can-eat crawfish, live entertainment and plenty of fun, Erickson said.

Carnival games are planned for the kids.

Over 3,000 pounds of crawfish will be prepared for the cook-off, Erickson said.

"Teams with their secret spicy recipes will be vying for first place. Awards will be given for 1st through 3rd, Showmanship and the People's Choice."

Southeast Region Director of Criminal Investigations.

"As taxpayers we expect everyone to pay their fair share and when they can't and choose to file for bankruptcy, we expect bankruptcy laws and procedures to be obeyed."

Consumer confidence rises in Coast district

Consumer confidence in District Five rose during the fourth quarter of 1995 to 122, a 7.0 percent increase from the third quarter of 1995 level of 114.

Although consumers were concerned about personal finances, the remaining three of five components contributed positively to the index.

Consumer confidence was helped in District Five by strong employment gains. District Five had the highest rate of employment gains during the fourth quarter of 1995 from the year earlier.

Employment grew 3.8 percent over that period. Also, the unemployment rate fell to 4.7 percent during the fourth quarter of 1995 from 5.8 percent the quarter earlier and 5.3 percent a year earlier.

Retail sales grew 4.7 percent over the period from the quarter earlier and 3.3 percent from the year earlier.

Nearby residents favor landfill

'Better than before'

BY ED LEPOMA

At least four people who live within a stone's throw of the Standard rubbish site have told the Echo that don't oppose plans to open a landfill.

And, most say the rubbish site is in far better condition than it was when Hancock County operated it.

James Sanders, who rents Section 16 land from the School District, said he and his family of six have lived in a trailer at 4066 C C Road for about eight years.

Sanders said the rubbish site, "is a lot better than it was before." He said his wife and son suffer from asthma, and "when the county ran it, they were always burning things, and several times I had to go over there and ask them to stop."

Sanders said he doesn't oppose opening up part or all of Standard for a county landfill. "I lived right across from one in Joliet, Illinois," Sanders said.

"I couldn't smell it or see it. There were vent pipes to burn out the methane gas."

"If it's done right, it won't bother me," Sanders said.

Yvonne Herring said she and her family have lived in their trailer at 4330 C C Road for the past 15 years, and she doesn't oppose a landfill.

"The only thing I would worry about is the big trucks coming in tearing up the road. If the county can keep the road patched, it won't bother me," said Herring.

She said she had one complaint about the rubbish site since Trans-American Waste Inc., of Mobile began running it last September.

"They're closed on Sunday," said Herring, "and that's when people work in their yards--on weekends--and they can't go in and dump on Sundays."

Naurice Summers and his family live in a trailer at 4410 C C Road. He said he has leased the Section 16 land for the last 24 years.

Summers said he wouldn't oppose a landfill "so long as it doesn't affect the water supply."

"It'll be all right, so long as it don't bother me," said Summers.

He said he hadn't actually used the rubbish site, so couldn't comment on its condition.

Steve Horton and his family have lived in a trailer at 4449 C C Road for the past 10 years.

He hasn't used the rubbish site either, but said, "When I pass it, it looks better from the road than it did before."

Horton said a county landfill "sounds like a good idea to me."

"We've got to put our garbage somewhere," said Horton.

Pass board okays school roof specs

BY TRACI BONNEY

Several schools in Pass Christian should be sporting new roofs by the beginning of the 1996-97 school year, if all goes well.

The school board, at its March 26 recess meeting, approved the specifications for bid proposals on three re-roofing projects. The board's approval was made contingent upon state approval of the specifications.

The State Department of Education has already approved the projects, according to architect Mike Reeves of the Bay St. Louis firm Mykolyk & Associates.

"We have state approval in writing for the roofing projects," he said, "but we still need state approval of the specifications."

Reeves added that the funding for the project is coming from several sources, including the Department of Education.

The school board also authorized the advertisement for construction bids, which must be done after the state sets a bid opening date.

Reeves said that in his opinion, "we need to have a bid opening in mid- to late April so we can start work on the roofs in May."

However, John Mykolyk said this week that the state has tentatively set the bid opening for May 23.

The three projects are the roofs of the middle and high school cafeterias, the high school library and one wing of Pass Christian Elementary School's main building.

Mykolyk & Associates recommended that the school board choose standing seam roofs instead of built-up roofs. The board agreed.

A built-up roof would involve tearing out some of the existing roof structures and rebuilding them at a slight pitch so the water would run off more instead of ponding on the roof and damaging it.

A standing seam roof, on the other hand, is built on a metal frame constructed over, and bolted into, the existing roof structure. It is less expensive and less disruptive to construct.

The school board should see a cost savings of about $1.50 to $2 by going with the standing seam roof, Reeves said.

American Cancer Society Relay For Life

Walkers and runners will go from morning till night in the battle against cancer during the American Cancer Society's Relay For Life.

Teams of walking and running enthusiasts from all walks of life will gather at the Sea Bee Base in Gulfport for a 12-hour relay against cancer May 4.

Relay For Life is the American Cancer Society's version of a relay but with a new twist. Relay For Life is a family-oriented team event where participants can walk or run around a track relay-style for 12 hours. Participants camp out around the track, and when they aren't taking their turn on the track, take part in family fun activities.

Teams from companies and organizations, collect donations and can win prizes for their efforts.

"Relay For Life is as much an awareness raiser about progress against cancer as it is a fund raiser," said spokesperson Cecilia Howe. "Many of the participants will be people who have been cured of cancer themselves. Their involvement is proof of the progress that has been made not only in cancer cure rates, but in the quality of life following cancer treatment."

"The funds raised will enable us to expand our services to cancer patients and their families, to offer more educational programs that will reduce people's risk of getting cancer, and to expand cancer research programs."

Registration forms and information are available from the American Cancer Society or by calling Howe at 467-5473 or Jeanne Anne at 467-0397.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Coast Guard Auxiliary
Flotilla 35

Flotilla 33 has scheduled its spring boating skills and seamanship course to begin Tuesday, April 16. The course will be offered on Tuesday and Thursday nights starting at 7. The classes will be held in the Hancock County Courthouse Board of Supervisors Room, which is on Main Street in Bay, St. Louis.

The course has been completely updated to reflect the latest information for boaters and includes such subjects as safety, equipment requirements, trailering, aids to navigation, engine maintenance, weather, piloting and radio equipment.

Also included are the Mississippi state's regulations and requirements that all skippers must know if and when licensing becomes a law. The course is open to both men and women and children 12 years and older.

Successful completion will make all safer boaters and more knowledgeable skippers and may result in a reduction in insurance.

For information, call 466-4850.

Hancock County
Republican Women

The Hancock County Republican Women will meet Thursday, April 11 at 11 a.m. at the Diamondhead Community Center. For information, call Pat at 255-4151.

UM adds graduate physical therapy school

The University of Mobile, in collaboration with Mobile Infirmary Medical Center, has established the UM Graduate School of Physical Therapy, according to an announcement by UM President Dr. Michael A. Magnoli.

"We expect this exciting new program to attract top students locally and nationally, as well as internationally," Magnoli said.

Understanding the increased need for physical therapists, E. Chandler Bramlett, president and CEO of Infirmary Health System Inc., proposed the idea of the UM Graduate School of Physical Therapy.

The two-year master's program is designed for students who currently hold a bachelor's degree in a field other than physical therapy. Enrollment will be limited to 48 students each year. Graduates will be eligible for employment as physical therapists in such settings as hospitals, home health agencies, schools and in private practice.

The program will be located at Mobile Infirmary Medical Center. Students will attend classes and gain hands-on experience at the hospital and at other Infirmary Health System sites in the immediate area.

Leading the program as dean of the University of Mobile Graduate School of Physical Therapy is nationally recognized physical therapy consultant Dr. Geneva R. Johnson. Johnson has a broad range of clinical, administrative and academic experience, including appointments at the Baylor College of Medicine and Case Western Reserve University.

Average starting salaries for physical therapists usually begin at $40,000 annually.

Applications are now being accepted for enrollment in the inaugural class. For more information, contact Johnson at (334) 675-5990, ext. 289 or 1-800-WIN-RAMS.

Hancock County REACT

Recognizing the need for alternative means of communications is the fundamental purpose of Hancock County REACT Team 4929. As they gear up to meet the challenge of the 1996 hurricane season, they are looking for more volunteers to become members of the team. Hancock County REACT accepts Citizen Band radio operators as well as licensed ham operators.

The team's goal is to work with Civil Defense Director Bobbie Boudin to provide necessary communications during disaster situations. This includes setting up radio base stations at area shelters.

If you are interested in supporting your community and working with Hancock County REACT, you may contact the team at 255-8275 or 466-9453. Applications for membership are available at the office of Hancock County Civil Defense, 129 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Veterans of Foreign Wars
Post 3253

The Bay St. Louis Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3253 and its Auxiliary will hold its second Variety Show Saturday, April 13 at the Post Hall at 7 p.m.

Some of the acts are "A Tribute to Minnie Pearl," Elvis Pelvis Presley, Tutu Tutu dancers, Friends to Bill and Hobbs Bobby, and others.

Tickets to the show are $3 a person. All profits go to the Post Auxiliary Unit for use in financing its many community programs. A raffle is being held to benefit the VFW cancer research program.

"Bring the whole family. The show is one every member of the family will enjoy," a spokesman said.

Coast Guard Flotilla 35

The U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Division III Flotilla 35, Pass Christian, awards banquet was March 2 in Biloxi.

Flotilla 35 received the Silver Oar Award, the Richard Alves Member Training Award and the Robert E. Meyer Member Resources Award.

The awards were received by Flotilla Commander Verna Lee Wester. An award was also presented to SO Philip M. Blanchard for doing over 50 CME's vessel exams the past year.

"We are very proud of the success the Pass Christian Flotilla had over the past year and are looking forward to a better year ahead," said a spokesman.

Anyone interested in the Coast Guard Auxiliary, call Verna Lee Wester at 388-7765.

ASPIRIN & IGNORE
THE OBVIOUS.

Headache pain is often a warning signal to the body that something is wrong. Yet, often when we get rid of the pain, we're ignoring the problem behind it.

There are many causes of headaches. One of the most frequent is misalignment of one or more of the small spinal bones in the neck. When these CERVICAL VERTEBRAE are displaced, the nerves between them are affected. Headaches of all kinds may result: migraines, pain at the base of the skull, behind the eyes or the forehead.

Our doctors at Hoda Chiropractic Clinics are experienced in treating headaches of this kind, can restore cervical vertebrae to their proper positions, thus halting the painful "nerve" interference which causes some headaches.

When you have a headache, see Dr.

Desmond Hoda.

SSC prayer services

At the beginning of Lent, SSC held a prayer service, and Brother Adrian Gaudin, SC, campus minister, issued a "triple Lenten challenge" to students. The first challenge was that each young man make a visit to the school chapel at least once a week during lent; second, to attend the Way of the Cross at least one Friday during Lent; the third to attend the 6:30 a.m. Mass in the Brothers of the Sacred Heart Chapel at least once during Lent. At the conclusion of Lent, a footwashing prayer service will be held with faculty, staff and students participating. Senior Jerry Polk carries the cross in the role of Jesus as Ann Kortman, in the role of Veronica, consoles during a "Living Way of the Cross" prayer service for the beginning of Lent before the St. Stanislaus student body.

Journalism workshop for students

Aspiring high school journalists and their advisers will have the chance to interact with professional members of the media at Mississippi University for women's 27th annual Ray A. Furr Workshop Friday, April 26, 9 a.m.-noon. The workshop will be held in Cromwell Communication Center.

Tentative workshops include "Shooting Quality Photographs," "The Wizardry of Graphics," "Better Publications with PCs," "Radio/TV for the 21st Century," "Yearbooks... Memories in the Making," "Putting Sparkle in Literary Magazines," and "Writing and Editing for Newspapers."

The high school newspaper and literary magazine contest — a chance for students' work to be compared with that of their peers — will feature awards for general excellence, best front page, best news story, best feature story, best sports story, best editorial, best column, best photo, best cartoon, best graphic. The awards for the literary magazine include general excellence, best prose — essay or short story, and best graphics/design.

Deadline for submissions for either contest is Tuesday, April 9. For information about the workshop, call (601) 329-7152 or, toll-free, 1-800-247-0758, ext. 7152.

The workshop is free and open to all Mississippi high school communication students — publications, radio and television — and their advisers.

Felder honored

Ellen Marie Felder, daughter of Gerald Felder of Bay St. Louis and Virginia Felder of Waveland, has been selected finalist for Mississippi's 16th annual Homecoming Queen selection to be held April 27-28 at the Ramada Inn Metro in Jackson.

Felder is the Bay High homecoming queen.

Mississippi Homecoming Queen will receive a cash scholarship plus an expense-paid trip to compete with queens from other states for America's Homecoming Queen in July in California.

America's Homecoming Queen Inc. is a non-profit organization promoting education and educational travel for high school homecoming queens in all 50 states.

Marist dean's list

Anna J. Hall, a sophomore from Bay St. Louis, was awarded first honors on the Marist College dean's list for the Fall 1995 semester.

Marist, an independent liberal arts college which enrolls 3,100 full-time undergraduate students from 25 states and 12 foreign countries, was founded by the Marist Brothers in 1929 and today offers 24 major fields of study and six graduate programs.

School adopts survey ship

Twenty-one Mississippi high school students and their teachers are now the proud "parents" of an oceanographic survey ship.

Juniors and seniors enrolled in Nettie Mayatt's advanced placement biology class at West Lauderdale High School in Collinsville recently "adopted" the U.S. Navy's new survey ship, the USNS Pathfinder. West Lauderdale is among three schools in the nation participating in "Adopt a Ship," a pilot educational program sponsored by the Navy.

Adopt-A-Ship exposes young people to oceanographic survey practices, life at sea and foreign ports. Students correspond weekly with scientists and crew members embarked aboard "their" ship, then apply what they learn to classroom projects.

The program integrates the disciplines of math, marine biology, oceanography, meteorology, social studies, geography and language arts. Teachers adapt the curriculum to reflect their students' interests, abilities and their own educational styles.

West Lauderdale's advanced placement explorers call their class project "Out to Sea." The students assume mock roles as scientists and crew members on board the ship and develop projects geared to each job.

The "captain," for example, keeps track of the Pathfinder's estimated course and predicted length of time it will take the ship to reach ports.

The "chief engineer" researches the mechanics of the ship; the ship's "physician" studies the immunizations required in the foreign countries they will visit.

The classroom crew also includes a seven-member scientific contingent who will work on projects ranging from the effects of oil pollution on bioluminescent creatures to treating plant pathogens found in foreign waters.

Other students research the nutritional value of a shipboard diet; write port reports of the geography and culture of foreign countries on the survey route; and conduct communications with the ship via the Internet and e-mail. The Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command at Stennis Space Center recently loaned them a personal computer under the auspices of the Navy Personal Excellence Partnership program. The computer will be used for math and science at the school, including reports for the Adopt-A-Ship program.

The Pathfinder, the first in a new class of multi-mission survey ships, is scheduled to embark on its first operational survey later this year. The West Lauderdale scientists, however, have already completed their preliminary investigation and are ready for the voyage and their assignments.

They even took a simulated trip to the Pathfinder recently when it was docked in Charleston, S.C. They determined the shortest route to Charleston, participated in the "Croaker Fish Festival" and made a statistical analyses of their catch.

For Mayatt, the Adopt-A-

Ship program is an opportunity to relieve a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Last summer she and West Lauderdale junior Chris Mason became the first Mississippians to participate in Project Marco Polo, an educational program sponsored by the U.S. Navy and the National Geographic Society.

The project annually sends American students and their teachers to sea as participants in a regularly scheduled oceanographic survey. Last summer's expedition explored the Mediterranean Sea with port stops in Italy and Greece.

"That was the highlight of my teaching career," said Mayatt, an educator for 28 years. "After hearing about our trip, my students were eager to learn more about meteorology and oceanography. Adopt-A-Ship continues the adventure for all of them." The scientists on board the Pathfinder work for the Naval Oceanographic Office, located at Stennis Space Center. The ship is operated by the Military Sealift Command in Washington, D.C. The Pathfinder's homeport is Gulfport.

Other schools participating in Adopt-A-Ship are in Maryland and Wisconsin.

Science fair winners

Students invited to safety conference April 30

All Mississippi students in grades 7-12, who are active members of alcohol/drug/highway safety awareness clubs, are invited to the eighth annual Teens on the Move safety conference.

The April 30 event will be in the Mississippi Coliseum, Jackson, and is designed to be a reward for students who are drug free and taking an active role in promoting highway safety.

Following the theme "It's Too Hot For Me," this motivational, educational and informational conference begins at 8:30 a.m.

and concludes at 3 p.m.

Presenters will be Gary Zelensky, an authority on youth issues and motivation who has spent 15 years working with teenagers, teachers and families, and Ken Medema, a song writer and performer since 1970 when he began composing material for his work as a musical therapist in a psychiatric hospital. Blind from birth, Medema performs in many areas of the world and seeks to challenge his listeners to dream and work for a world of justice and peace.

Harriet Mauney, Public Safety Planning's youth programs coordinator, noted that "this conference will help in equipping teenagers to influence thousands of other young people to live safe and productive lives."

Registration fee is $10 per student plus a canned food item brought for donation to the Mississippi Food Network. Lunch and a t-shirt are included in the cost. The registration fee is not required for chaperones.

A maximum of 25 students per school will be accepted, and three adult chaperones per 25 students or one chaperone for every eight students must attend," Mauney said. "Because attendance will be limited to 5,000, it's recommended that schools register as soon as possible. The absolute deadline, if space is still available, is April 22."

Checks should be made payable to the University of Southern Mississippi and sent to Harriet Mauney, Box 23039, Jackson 39225-3039. Mauney may be contacted by telephone at 359-7880.

FURNITURE MEDIC[®]

A year later.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast has a full service furniture repair company. What's more... most repairs can be accomplished on site!

This story actually begins in March of last year when Tom and Linda Ledet began operation of their Furniture Medic franchise for the Coast, targeting Hancock and Harrison Counties.

In the beginning, the Ledets offered a wide array of on-site repairs for such common furniture ailments as scratches and dents, gouges, scuffs and scrapes, broken joints, and chair regluing. They even offered a complete refinishing of furniture along with such specialized services as deluxing surfaces for mirror like finishes.

The Ledets next added motion furniture repairs by gaining certification from major manufacturers of recliners, sofas and hide-a-beds.

Now, the Furniture Medic capabilities have been expanded to include upholstery for residential and commercial customers. A qualified upholstery technician is on hand to assist in all needs.

Furniture Medic is comprised of certified furniture repair specialists throughout the nation. All work is fully guaranteed, and is accomplished with environmentally friendly materials.

Call Furniture Medic's Biloxi office today for an appointment. The number is (601) 396-1858.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, APRIL 7, 1996-5B

Gulf Coast Symphony returns to Coast for Pops Concert

The Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra will return to the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center for its Pops Concert — A Salute to Music of America — Saturday, April 27 at 8 p.m. The orchestra will be under the direction of Andrew H. Harper and features Three on A String — Jerry, Bobby and Brad. Three on A String do all kinds of music — classical, old standards, country, bluegrass and folk. Their three-part harmony has a unique and pleasing blend, from a country song to an unexpected capella rendition. They have enjoyed doing concerts with some well-known performers, including Barbara Mandrell, Bill Cosby, Brenda Lee, Tammy Wynette, Lee Greenwood, The Oak Ridge Boys, The Statler Brothers and the Longmont Symphony Orchestra of Colorado and symphony orchestras throughout the South. Individually, there's Jerry the master of ceremonies, guitarist and harmonica player. He keeps the show rolling, delivering timely one-liner quips and stories. Bobby, a fine musician, demonstrates his expertise on guitar, banjo, dobro, trumpet and bass. Brad, the bass player, literally grew up with the group. As a youngster, he watched Bobby and "Dad" learn their way around the entertainment business. He later learned about the business himself, first as a teenager and eventually as the third string.

Under the baton of Dr. Harper, the orchestra will play works by Bernstein, Copland, Ives and Dragon and from the concert hall, stage and screen. The well-known and not-so-well-known selections are among those which continue to define American music.

Everyone renewing or subscribing for the 1996-97 season by April 27 will be eligible for a drawing for two nights at the Millsaps Buie House, two tickets to The Palaces of St. Petersburg Exhibit, and dinner for two at Nick's and at Bravo in Jackson. The drawing will take place at the pops concert, and you need not be present to win.

Advance tickets for the Pops are recommended and may be obtained from Ticketmaster at the Coliseum. Table assignment reservations must be made by calling (601) 867-5403 not later than Wednesday, April 24. Those who are not subscribers must obtain tickets prior to making table reservations.

'The Belle of Amherst' scheduled in Gulfport

Part of the 50th anniversary, Gulfport Little Theatre presents the one-woman show, "The Belle of Amherst," starring Coast actress Kennedy Miazza White April 11-13 at 8 p.m. and Sunday April 14 at 2 p.m.

Tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for senior citizens and $6 for students.

Reservations are suggested by calling the box office at 479-8333. The theatre is located on Deborah Place behind Lyles Carpet Mart off Pass Road.

The show is a funny and touching visit with Emily Dickinson in her parlor where she shares important events of her life and her well-known poems. Emily Dickinson was a funny and brilliant writer, a poet who captures the wonder and awe of life in her closest surroundings.

Kennedy Miazza White is a third generation Gulfport Little Theatre performer, who left the Coast to study theatre at Stephen's College in Missouri and attended the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York where she studies under Sanford Meisner. She has starred in many Coast productions.

HOROSCOPES

April 7-13

ARIES — March 21/April 20

Taking on a big project in the next few days will seem more like doing a healthy challenge. When you are one part at a time, you will seem less overwhelmed. Be more patient with an irritant. Remember, people take different ways of showing their love.

TAURUS — April 21/May 21

Don't let the green-eyed devil take over your emotions. Put your jealousy and focus on the positive. Instead of worrying about other people's reactions, concentrate on what you want and how you can achieve it. A new neighbor could become a good friend in the future.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21

Discipline yourself when it comes to business. If you're in a position to make important decisions, don't let yourself be swayed by those around you. Your good sense of humor will come in handy at work later in the week. An important lesson can be learned from archrival this week.

CANCER — June 22/July 22

Before you overreact to a situation that seems absolutely dreadful, be sure that you know all the facts. Things may not be as bad as they appear. You'll find answers in an obvious place. You just have to look. Your natural tendency to worry will get you nowhere this week.

LEO — July 23/August 23

Looking at the past will help you plan for the future. Your history will lead the path to where you want to be. Catch up on household chores and get a handle on personal finances. Is there a bill you forgot to pay? Better check it out. Weekend plans may be cancelled.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22

It may be time to give up on a no-win situation. No matter how hard you try to convince yourself, some things are just not worth fighting for. Keep a tight hold on finances this week. Resist the urge to splurge. Unexpected bills may be awaiting. A confidence on Friday provides food for thought.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23

Instead of worrying about all you have to do, why not go ahead and get to work? Focus energy on productive endeavors instead of worry and anticipation. Watch what you say to new acquaintances. Divulging too much personal information is like wearing your heart on your sleeve. Practice good posture.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22

A friend you thought you knew will do something to surprise you. You'll be intrigued and appalled at the same time. A difference of opinion with a loved one could lead to a heated argument if you let your emotions take over. Try to keep your cool. Honesty is the best policy in love.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21

Give yourself extra time if traveling this week. Unexpected delays may make you miss the boat for the plane, train or bus. At work, a change to your routine will be a welcomed diversion. Perhaps it's time to make some additional moves. Think positive in the business arena.

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20

Discipline yourself when it comes to work or school-related projects. If you have a hard time staying focused, meditation may be your answer. Asking too much of a loved one could lead to resentment. Be reasonable with your requests. Take note of your diet and exercise regimen.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18

Feeling down this week. Aquarius! If so, getting in touch with old friends will probably put a smile back on your face. Think back to more carefree times and let your zanier side show through. If new love is what you're looking for, patience will have to be a virtue.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20

An opportunity for advancement and growth will come your way. If considering a large purchase, be sure to shop around. Deals that seem too good to be true probably are. Instead of beating around the bush, be straightforward and with a loved one who has disappointed you.

Tribute to Nat 'King' Cole

On Sunday, April 21, the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society will present Freddy Cole, the younger brother of Nat "King" Cole, in a tribute to his brother. Freddy is gifted with the same wonderful voice timbre as his famous brother, but has his own style. He is a distinguished-looking pianist/vocalist who is also a composer described as "suave and elegant," with an easy, soothing singing voice. Freddy attended the Julliard School of Music and received a master's degree in music education from the New England Conservatory School of Music.

After graduating in 1956, he played briefly with Billy Eckstine and Earl Bostick before setting out on a globe-trotting stint that carried him all over the world.

Joined by members of the Jefferson Symphony, Freddy will play and sing his way into your heart with the music of Jerome Kern, Cole Porter and others. Songs will include The Rose, Theme from Mahogany, People, On a Clear Day, Nat Cole medley and other selections.

Tickets will be available at the door, at L. L. Ltd. Fashions, or call 255-4433.

Fly Non-Stop To Jamaica From New Orleans!

Raggae Jam Tours announced recently non-stop charter service from New Orleans to Jamaica. The charter will operate from May 23 to September 1.

Twice-weekly morning flights will depart New Orleans on Thursdays and Sundays, with afternoon return flights returning from Montego Bay.

The starting price for a three-night package with air is $388 per person, double, at the Montego Bay Racquet Club.

Also offered are four and seven night versions of the plan. All inclusive packages are available at other properties at slightly higher rates.

Packages include hotel taxes but do not include a Jamaica departure tax of $16.

We are Hancock County's local travel agency. Just call or stop by and our professional agents will help you choose a package or cruise that offers you the best vacation value!

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Virginia Wheat

Mason-Wheat

Miss Virginia Ann Wheat and Dr. John Lawrence Mason Jr. will be married May 18, 1996 in Yazoo City, Miss.

Miss Wheat is the daughter of Reverend and Mrs. Frank Ray Wheat of Yazoo City, the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett Breazeale and of Mrs. John Roland Weston of Bay St. Louis and the late Mr. Frank Wheat.

Miss Wheat is a graduate of Franklin County High School in Meadville, Miss. and of the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg. She is a registered dietitian at the University of Mississippi Medical Center.

Dr. Mason is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence Mason of Madison, Miss., the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Roy Harris of Batesville, Miss. and Mrs. Lawrence Mason of Byhalia, Miss. and the late Mr. Mason.

Dr. Mason is a graduate of Jackson Preparatory School, Belhaven College and the University of Mississippi Medical Center.

After completing a residency in the Department of Ophthalmology in June of 1996, Dr. Mason will begin practice at the Green Eye Institute in Hattiesburg, where the couple will live.

Youth clubs dinner

The biggest annual fund raiser for the Boys and Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast will have a stellar attraction this year.

Apollo 13 astronaut Fred Haise, a Biloxi native, will deliver a special presentation to the attendees of the July 16 event. Haise's presentation will be supplemented by promotional and educational materials from NASA's Stennis Space Center.

The 5th Annual Steak & Burger Dinner, to be held at the Mississippi Coast Convention Center, is an excellent opportunity for members of the Boys & Girls Clubs and adults to interact and enjoy a meal together.

The dinner also serves as a showcase of the children and an update on the valuable services the Boys and Girls Clubs provide to the community. The twist is that adults eat hamburgers, while the children eat steak dinners.

For information, call 374-2330.

Oyster Festival a success

When all was said and done, the 19th annual Boys and Girls Clubs Oyster Festival amounted to a lot of fun and great food for everyone.

The four-day fund raiser was marked by many competitions and events for children and adults, constant live music, carnival rides and a fabulous menu — all under mostly sunny skies. Even Elvis Presley made an appearance for the Karaoke competition on Sunday.

The festival was all fun and games, but only because of the effort and support of many Coast volunteers. The Boys and Girls Clubs depend greatly upon volunteers to help with its annual events. The list of volunteers includes representatives from many Coast businesses and organizations and individuals who dedicate all or part of their weekend to making the festival flow smoothly. The Boys and Girls Clubs' own boards of directors make up a large number of volunteers as well.

This year's festival drew an attendance of nearly 10,000 people, many of whom took part in the many contests offered.

Ministers conference

Saturday, April 13, at 1 p.m., the Interdenominational Alliance of Ministers' Spouses will be hosting a Spring Fellowship Tea for all clergy and their spouses on the Coast at the Gulf Coast Missionary Baptist Center, 16046B Harrison Drive, Gulfport (off Martin Luther King Drive). It is a free non-denominational get-together. Call 831-3638 for details.

Religious poetry sought

A $1,000 grand prize is being offered in a religious poetry contest sponsored by the Reno Fine Arts Institute, open to everyone. There are 28 prizes in all totaling over $2,000.

The deadline for entering is May 21. Poems may be written on any subject, using any style, as long as there is a spiritual inference.

A typical poem might be a love poem, or nature poem, one that inspires. Winners will be notified by the end of June and will be invited for free publication. All entrants will receive a winner's list.

To enter, send one poem only of 21 lines or less to: Poetry Contest, 316 California Ave., Suite 626, Reno, NV 89509-1669.

Family support group meeting set April 18

Anyone interested in forming a support group for parents and family members of children with special needs is invited to attend an informal meeting Thursday, April 18 at 6 p.m. at the Martin Luther King Municipal Building (formerly the Mississippi Power Company Building in downtown Biloxi) at 676

Washington Loop, Biloxi, MS 39530.

Purpose of this group will be to provide support, social interaction, activities, education and information to families and caregivers of children with special needs.

This meeting will give families an opportunity to meet other families similarly situated and to learn about programs serving exceptional families along the Gulf Coast as well as to share their areas of interest in order to plan future meetings and programs to meet the needs of special families.

Educators, professionals, medical and service providers to special needs families are welcome to attend as well.

For information, contact Sarah Ohr Murphy, parent volunteer for Hancock-Harrison-Jackson counties for Parent Partners' of Mississippi, a statewide parent training and information organization at (601) 388-1481.

Precautions ease spring allergies

By Bethany W. Keiper
MSU Ag Communications
 Beautiful spring and summer days can be miserable for those who suffer from pollen, dust and insect allergies. Taking precautions can help lessen the effects of these allergens.

Often, an allergic reaction is the result of exposure to many different allergens at once.

Linda Patterson, extension health specialist at Mississippi State University, said combinations of different allergens often cause adverse effects as the body's immune system is overwhelmed.

"Your reaction may depend on how much and how many allergens you are exposed to, and whether or not your body can handle it," Patterson said.

The warm temperatures and blooming plants of spring and summer bring out stinging and biting insects in high numbers.

Insects may only be bothersome to most people, but for those who have allergies, they can present major problems.

The health specialist recommended people avoid wearing perfumes or sprays which may attract insects when outdoors. Don't walk barefoot outdoors to avoid stepping on stinging or biting insects.

"Many people do have allergic reactions to insect bites and stings, ranging from mild discomfort to life-threatening effects," Patterson said. "Be sure to seek medical guidance and keep the appropriate medications and lotions on hand to treat reactions to insect bites and stings, especially if you've had previous reactions."

Spring cleaning also can trigger allergic reactions.

"A combination such as dust or cleanser fumes from spring cleaning and exposure to high levels of pollen in the air may be too much for some to handle," Patterson added.

To help avoid exposure to too much dust when cleaning homes, set up a cleaning schedule instead of trying to do everything in one day. Wear a snug-fitting mouth and nose mask when emptying vacuum bags or cleaning draperies, rugs or storage areas.

"Try to limit exposure to allergens such as pollens and dust by keeping homes clean," Patterson said. "To help keep pollens out of homes, keep windows and doors shut, and keep air filters changed regularly."

Air filters with small pores will help eliminate more particles from the air. Ceiling fans can help keep air inside homes circulated through the filters.

When cleaning, use solutions that are applied directly to surfaces rather than sprays. Solutions are more body-friendly, since you are less likely to inhale as much of a substance if it isn't a fine mist.

If the symptoms of spring and summer allergies persist, Patterson recommends a visit to a doctor for treatment, instead of continuously increasing doses of over-the-counter allergy medicines.

"Stay alert to how you feel," Patterson said. "Often your body will tell you when you need to stop what you're doing and take better care of yourself."

Industry has minimal impact on water quality

One of the most complete assessments ever conducted of Mississippi water bodies found that industry is not a major source of impairment of streams, lakes and bays.

The Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality has completed the 1996 list of impaired water bodies required by Section 303(d) of the Clean Water Act.

This was one task the U.S. EPA said the state was behind in performing when the federal agency sent inspectors into Mississippi.

"Most of the impairment in our streams is due to non-point source pollution, primarily land use activities such as agriculture, silviculture (forestry), construction and septic tank failures," said Randy Reed, DEQ chief of Water Quality Assessment Branch.

"Municipal and industrial wastewater only contribute in minor ways and only in selected places, not statewide."

The last report of this kind, done in 1992, was not nearly as extensive, he said.

The review of the state's water bodies begins with the use and then proceeds to determine if that use is impaired. The uses can include drinking water supply, recreation, shellfish harvesting.

The streams are ranked according to the degree they are impaired. A water body is impaired if it fails to meet certain standards more than 10 percent of the time. A heavy rain can cause impairment.

Topping the list was Bayou Cumbest in Jackson County.

Colored pencil workshop

The Colored Pencil Society of America (District Chapter 110 Gulfport-Biloxi) will present a three-session workshop in colored pencil painting beginning Friday evening, April 19 at Ramsay United Methodist Church, 12472 Dedeaux Road, Gulfport.

Coast artist Proctor Taylor will demonstrate basic techniques, discuss material choices and guide participants through completed projects of their own choosing.

The workshop will convene Friday at 7 p.m. for a social and dessert hours, exhibit of completed colored pencil work by Taylor, introduction to colored pencil technique, and a preview of the program.

For information, call 863-4669 or 832-1691.

lowed by St. Louis Bay. Several other water bodies topping the list were along the Gulf Coast.

Reed said the Gulf Coast sites ranked near the top because they serve as shellfish harvesting waters which is a high ranking use. He said urban runoff and failing septic tanks cause the waters to be impaired.

After the statewide ranking of impaired waters, certain streams are selected to have total maximum daily loads (TMDLs) developed.

The TMDL is the maximum amount of a pollutant that can be assimilated without violating water quality standards.

The two water bodies selected for TMDLs were Bayou Cumbest in Jackson County and Tallahala Creek near Laurel.

One of the reasons, Reed said, is because the agency has funds available for studies in the Pascagoula River Basin.

In cases where industries had contributed to impairment of the waters, Reed said, there have been great improvements in water quality in the last few years.

Attorney General Mike Moore has named a statewide task force to assist in training law enforcement officers, prosecutors and judges for better enforcement of laws against family violence.

"The laws that we have against spouse abuse, child abuse and abuse of the elderly are among the best in the nation," Moore said, "but in many areas we are falling down in the enforcement of those laws."

The task force will hold its first meeting in Jackson Monday, May 6, and will design a good, practical training session on enforcement of domestic violence laws for police officers, judges and prosecutors.

The training session will be taken to various cities across the state this summer. The task force will devise a workable policy for both large and small law enforcement agencies on handling domestic violence cases. This policy will be made available to all police departments and sheriff's offices in the state.

"We hope the task force will want to continue its work and, as funds become available, branch out into some other areas of training, maybe in the schools and in the workplace," the attorney general said.
